Communicating With Our Children

with guest speaker Dr. Anita Soni

Dr. Anita Soni received her Professional Doctorate in 2010 and has supported schools and families across the West Midlands as a consultant and Educational Psychologist for over 15 years.

Her research has taken her around the world, most recently supporting children in Malawi. She is a member of the British Psychological Society and Health

Join us at Brookvale Primary School for our first parent workshop, led by Educational Psychologist Dr. Anita Soni, centred around effective communication with children.

Quality interactions between adults and our children can significantly influence our child's opportunities to communicate.

Positive engagement can help encourage language development, ensuring our children reach their potential socially, emotionally and academically.

This is an exciting opportunity to take away key messages to support our children at home, delivered by an expert in the field, through practical and engaging activities.
